CROKEN ATTACK

A long time ago, when the gods ruled our world, in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, there was a pirate ship that sailed far and wide to reach the Bermuda Triangle where anything can happen. One day the ship was attacked by a monstrous being the CROKEN. It was an animal that looked like an octopus. After a hard battle, the monster managed to wrap the ship and bring it down into the abyss. The whole crew was saved by a pack of trident-armed fish, soldiers of Poseidon. Marine soldiers had the sailors drink a magic potion that would allow them to breathe underwater. Poseidon in exchange for their salvation, asked him to help him defeat his arch-enemy ... Croken, his enemy and of the whole marine kingdom. The pirates, helped by all the inhabitants of the sea, created a large coral cage, beautiful, red, pink and white. The Croken did not resist its beauty and decided to take it. But too late he realized that it was a trap, entering the cage, he remained closed for the rest of his days. The crew was finally able to return to the surface, after receiving a priceless treasure from Poseidon, who thanked them with great joy for their mission. FINALLY the marine kingdom was free.

A stroke of cunning

One day Joe the Pirate and his Buddy Captain Barbarossa clashed with another group of terrible pirates, hungry for money and luck. The Mediterranean Sea became the center of a tremendous naval battle. And unfortunately the oil started to come out of the ship. Some fish having seen this black speck float, got scared. Fortunately it started to rain, the oil gradually dissolved in the water and the fish began to live with a little more tranquility. But when everything seemed to have calmed down, a bad fish attacked all the small fish, trying to take possession of their waters. Joe the pirate and captain Barbarossa had noticed changes, in fact the water was no longer blue as before and above all they didn't see the small fish anymore. Then they decided to drop a net, hoping that something could happen. Two wise fish seeing the net, they understood that it could be their salvation therefore they attracted with the astuteness and the deception the bad fish that unbeknownst to him ended up in the net of the two pirates. Now the marine kingdom was free.
